

1 application execution, application input/output, or application
2 communications. By timing the memory activation in this manner,
3 the microprocessor may be redirected to the newly downloaded
4 executable instructions or data without microprocessor
5 interruption.